Job Description

The primary purpose of this position is to perform the full range of warehousing duties with responsibility of handling or overseeing one or more product lines, a segment of a large warehouse, or serve as the senior employee in a smaller warehouse. The position requires the use of forklift trucks and light motor vehicles.

You will be responsible for the organization and coordination of all receiving and storage operations. This includes the issuance and shipment of items, and the maintenance of all relevant documentation. You will be required to operate a variety of vehicles and equipment, including forklift trucks, automated material handling and identification equipment, and trucks with a gross vehicle weight of 7.5 tonnes or less. A key part of this role will be the safe execution of all material handling duties, in accordance with established safety practices and regulations.

Qualifications and Key skills for the position.

The successful candidate will demonstrate comprehensive knowledge of accepted warehousing methods, procedures, and material handling techniques, including material receiving, storage, issuing, preservation, and inventory management. Applicants must be highly proficient in utilizing automated material processing systems, computer terminals, optical readers, and scanners to maintain accurate documentation and records. Strong organizational skills are required to interpret handling instructions, prepare inventory and production reports, screen shipping and receiving documents for discrepancies, and maintain tools and work areas in a clean, orderly, and safe manner.

Safety is paramount in this role; therefore, candidates must have proven experience adhering to warehouse safety regulations and possess the practical skill to safely operate forklift trucks—maneuvering controls for starting, stopping, lifting, tilting, and backing through narrow aisles and ramps. Additionally, candidates must possess a valid UK Driving License (Category B) and be able to demonstrate the ability to safely operate motor vehicles in all traffic and road conditions, exhibiting excellent judgment regarding clearances, turning radii, and braking distances.

Conditions of employment

- You will be required to handle and safeguard sensitive information in accordance with applicable US and UK laws, rules and regulations. This position may also be coded as mission essential.
- You may be required to travel by military and/or civilian aircraft, and you may also be required to travel to the US or other country, in the performance of official duties or attend necessary training.
- Start & end times may be modified due to mission needs and in accordance with organization's flexible working policies. Emergency overtime is possible but not guaranteed and you may be assigned other duties not included in this position description, but that are appropriate to the grade and skill set.
- You must be able to communicate effectively both orally and in writing. You must have strong communication skills to effectively perform your duties and as needed, train or guide other personnel,
- You must be able to obtain and maintain a security clearance and will be responsible for handling sensitive information according to US and UK regulations.
- This role requires the operation of various vehicles and equipment, including forklift trucks, automated systems, and standard trucks (up to 7.5 tonnes), both on-site and on public roads.
- Successful candidates must pass a pre-employment physical and will be subject to a 6-month probationary period. This is a drug-tested position with the possibility of random and for-cause screenings.

NOTE: You will require a security clearance and a right to work in the UK

This position may have certain restrictions on US citizens including US dual nationals due to the Status of Forces Agreement. For additional information contact the LNDH team on 01638 544955.
